Your Nose Might Know!

by Gail E. Hedrick

Are you a smell detective
When you go into a place?
Try to guess where you are at
And solve each smelly case.

Close your eyes and smell the books,
Erasers and the crayons,
Bright markers, clay, a swishing mop
That cleans where children ran.

Where are you?

Next, shut your eyes and sniff the hay.
Smell horses and a cow,
Wheat, corn, a rooster and a hen,
Wet dirt and one big sow.

Where are you?

Now don't peek yet, and smell this cake
With chocolate frosting high—
Fresh rolls and muffins, lemon tarts,
Orange scones and berry pie.

Where are you?

Try to be a smell detective
When you go into a place.
Sniff and know just where you are.
Your nose will solve the case! 🕵️
